

... dedicated to the promotion, composition, performance, understanding and dissemination of new and contemporary music ...

NEWSLETTER CONTENTS

Listservs Information about the Learn about the use of SCI listservs available for use by Society members

Page 1

Resources

Newsletter, upcoming SCI Events and our many online resources.

Page 2

Events

Upcoming student, regional and national conferences of the Society

Page 2

About

Membership info, members of the National Council/ Executive Committee.

Page 3

Join SCI

SCI is an organization for composers. Various membership categories are available.

Page 3

XLI: 4, July-August 2011 SCItings

Performances, Awards, Commissions, Honors, Publications and other Member Activities

Page 4

The SCI Listservs

Controversy vs. Utility

By Gerald Warfield

The most frequent complaint that I receive about scimembers is that some members don't want to receive notices of concerts in areas of the country where they can't attend or even outside their own city. On the surface, this seems like a reasonable request. What is not understood is that these announcements aren't invitations as much as they are notices of record. They are simply personalized "members activities" which was (and is) a part of professional newsletters. This perspective on concert announcements is particularly hard for students who are having enough trouble managing the limited world of their university environment. But once in the profession, staying in touch with your peers becomes part of the job, so to speak. Members don't read such posts with a thought of attending but with the thought of keeping informed. Of course, it would help if members posting such notices would word them as announcements and not invitations.

The SCI listservs have always been tinged with controversy. But to settle one thing right up front, the spelling "listserv" is correct. The "e" was dropped dating back to the first listserv in 1984 when names were limited to eight letters. Since 1995 the term, in all capital letters, has been a US trademark, but it has been used generically since its inception to mean electronic mailing list.

(Continued on Page 4)

General Manager, Gerald Warfield, at his computers where he usually monitors the SCI listservs.

About the Newsletter

Co-Editors: Michael Torres and Benjamin

Williams

Circulation: 1400

Access: available on the SCI website at http://www.societyofcomposers.org/publications/newsletter/

Frequency of Publication: bimonthly Newsletter Contact Information:

Benjamin Williams 1221 Cliffdale Dr. Clinton, MS 39056 (330) 268-2590

newsletter@societyofcomposers.org

For other SCI business:

Society of Composers, Inc. P.O. Box 687 Mineral Wells, TX 76067-0687 secretary@societyofcomposers.org

> Copyright © 2010 Society of Composers, Inc. All rights reserved.

How to Submit Items to the Newsletter

Articles: The Newsletter welcomes submissions of articles to run in future issues. Articles, if accepted, may be edited for length and content. Please include a photo with all submissions if possible (photo may be of author).

Member News + Photos: Please send all member news and activities with a photo. Submitted items may be edited.

Ideas/Suggestions: The Editors welcome any other ideas or suggestions.

Submit to the newsletter via email at: newsletter@societyofcomposers.org

Upcoming SCI Events

2013 Region V Conference April 11–13, 2013

Clarke University, Dubuque, IA Host: Amy Dunker amy.dunker@clarke.edu

2013 Region I Conference August 15–17, 2013

Portsmouth, NH Hosted by PARMA Recordings as part of the PARMA Music Festival

2013 Region IV Conference October 17–19, 2013

Eastern Kentucky University Richmond, KY Host: Thomas Couvillon Thomas.Couvillon@eku.edu

2014 Region VIII Conference March 7–8, 2014

University of Puget Sound, Tacoma, WA

Internet & Email

www.societyofcomposers.org

- Conference dates and submission guidelines
- Contact information and links to member web-pages
- Student chapters and opportunities
- CDs and journals produced by SCI
- Details on SCI such as membership, contacts for officers, regional structure, by-laws, newsletter archives and more...

SCION

SCION is a listing of opportunities on our website exclusively for members. It is updated on a continual basis so that it may by checked at any time for the most current notices. In addition, members are emailed on the first Monday of each month to remind them to visit the site for new or recent postings. The large number of listings is easily managed by a table of contents with links to the individual notices. In-depth coverage; contest listings in full; all items listed until expiration; this is a valuable resource that you may print in its entirety or in part at any time.

John Bilotta, SCION Editor scion@societyofcomposers.org

scimembers

scimembers is a member-driven e-mail mailing list that is intended to facilitate communication between members of the Society on topics of concern to composers of contemporary concert music. It conveys whatever notices or messages are sent by its members, including announcements of performances and professional opportunities, as well as discussions on a wide variety of topics. For more information, including how to join and participate in the listserv:

http://www.societyofcomposers.org/publications/listserv.html

National Council

President

James Paul Sain University of Florida

Region 1

Scott Brickman University of Maine at Fort Kent

Beth Wiemann University of Maine

Region 2

Anneliese Weibel SUNY-Stony Brook

Daniel Weymouth SUNY-Stony Brook

Region 3

Harvey Stokes Hampton University

Bruno Amato Peabody Conservatory

Region 4

Mark Engebretson University of North Carolina at Greensboro

Paul Osterfield Middle Tennessee State University

Region 5

Mark Phillips Ohio University

Frank Felice
Butler University

Region 6

Eric Honour University of Central Missouri

Craig Weston
Kansas State University

Region 7

Bruce Reiprich Northern Arizona State University

> Glenn Hackbarth Arizona State University

Region 8

Rob Hutchinson University of Puget Sound

Patrick Williams University of Montana

President Emeritus Greg Steinke

Membership Information

For complete details, please visit http://www.societyofcomposers.org/join/membership.html.

Full Membership ($55/year): Eligible to submit scores to the National Conferences, regional conferences, SCI Recording Series, SCI Journal of Music Scores. Access to the SCI Newsletter in electronic form. Optional subscription to [scimembers], the SCI listserv and all other SCI publications. Eligible to vote on Society Matters and in elections for the National Council.

Joint Membership ($75/year): Same benefits as full members

Senior Membership ($27.50/year): Open to those 65 years of age or older, or retired. Same benefits as full members.

Associate Membership ($27.50/year): Open to performers and other interested professionals. Receives the SCI Newsletter in electronic form and can participate in national and regional

Student Membership ($27.50/year): Eligible to submit to national and regional conferences and to vote in society matters. Access to all SCI publications.

Student Chapter Membership conferences.

($17.50/year): Same benefits as student members, but only available on campuses having Student Chapters.

Institutional Membership ($25/year): Organizations receive hard copy of the SCI Newsletter and other mailings.

Lifetime Membership ($1100 or $120/year for 10 years): Benefits the same as full members, for life.

Executive Committee

Chairman

Mike McFerron Lewis University

Editor, Newsletter

Michael Torres

The Ohio State University

Benjamin Williams Mississippi College

Editor, SCION

John G. Bilotta

Editor, Journal of Music Scores

Bruce J. Taub

Producer, CD Series

Vera Stanojevic Capital University

Thomas Wells
The Ohio State University

Coordinator, Submissions

Lee Hartman University of Central Missouri

Representative, Student Chapters

Nickitas Demos Georgia State University

Coordinator, SCI/ASCAP Student Competition and Grants

Anne Kilstofte Phoenix Arizona

Webmaster

David Drexler

System Analyst

M. Anthony Reimer

System Administrator

Matthew McCabe
Columbus State University

Representative, Students

Adam Scott Neal

Chair Emeritus

William Ryan Grand Valley State University

The SCI Listservs: Controversy vs. Utility

(Continued from Page 1)

SCI began making use of the Internet to distribute information ten years later with the electronic distribution of SCI-ON in January of 1994. Edited by Ren Weidenaar, it began with 31 subscribers. Our first listserv was launched a year later coordinated by Kristine H. Burns. I remember worrying at the time that some wag would hack in and post something offensive. It has never happened (knock on wood), and since both listservs are moderated it's unlikely that that it ever will.

That's not to say that offensive content doesn't appear. There are certain topics that bring out our more vociferous members, and responses can get heated and personal. And that brings up the topic of censorship.

I've never met an SCI officer who was in favor of censorship. Free speech, so closely allied with academic freedom, is a given in our profession. Yet flaming, when it is permitted to run its course, rarely achieves anything except escalating levels of hostility. No one is convinced; no opinions are swayed.

Contest fees is one such hot button that brings members to the brink of flaming. Many have weighed in on this topic, and sometimes well-intentioned contest administrators have found activities they thought were service-to-the-profession to be reviled and rebuffed.

I cannot remember when I became moderator of the listservs, but is seems like a long time ago. It's not a position I enjoy. Sometimes the line between insightful criticism and personal attack is very fine. There have been times when the ad hominem nature of a post has caused me to turn a message back. Always when I do this I send an explanation. In almost every case I get an understanding response. A few times, the original author has thanked me for keeping an ill-conceived message from going before the eyes of the profession. In the words of Mike McFerron, our Executive Committee Chairman, "it never pays to write an email when you're mad." In a world as small as contemporary music we should be very circumspect about burning bridges.

In the initial flush of the Internet, as people tested the limits of the new utility, myriads of needless messages flashed back and forth. Every announcement spawned "congratulation" responses. Coming from a "snail mail" background, members viewed each of these emails as an electronic corollary of the written letter, and every one was evaluated for a possible response. It was too much. From the perspective of snail mail, three or four messages a day from the same source was indeed a "flood." Today, we have far fewer complaints about our listservs as members have accustomed themselves to a greater number of messages. Utilization of the lists has become more informed, too. These days most people know that hitting the reply button sends a message only to the author of the original post whereas "reply all" sends the message to the entire list. Members also have the freedom of immediately subscribing and unsubscribing through an interface designed by our web team.

The bottom line, of course, is that the world has changed. Before listservs, if John sent a congratulatory message to Alice, there would be not need to copy Ben, Sue and Arthur. In the old days, carbon copies were trouble to mail (envelope, stamp, etc.), and they had almost the status of a regular letter. Technology has changed all that.

In conclusion, I should mention that many members are unaware that we have two listservs. One of them is scibiglist. Every member is subscribed and they may not unsubscribe. This list is used only for official communications from the Society such as conference announcements and SCION. The listserv that sends the most messages is scimembers. This is a list to which members may post concert announcements and other relevant professional information. Members may easily subscribe or unsubscribe from this list by going to the mySCI account area of the SCI website. Simply log in to your account from the mySCI navigation and choose "Edit My Account." Members of SCI can post to the scimembers listserv by sending an email to scimembers@societyofcomposers.org.

Gerald Warfield geraldwarfield@suddenlink.net

SCItings

Member News and Activities

Performances, Awards, Commissions, Honors, Publications and other Member Activities.

Evan Mack

Encompass New Opera Theatre, under the direction of Nancy Rhodes and Mara Waldman, presented the premiere of Angel of the Amazon, a music drama by Evan Mack, on May 6, 2011. Angel of the Amazon is based on the true story of Sister Dorothy Stang, an American missionary who devoted forty years to helping the indigenous farmers of the Brazilian rainforest. In 2005, this 73 year old nun was brutally murdered by assassins hired by the owner of a logging company, who felt her passion for the Earth and all of its gifts to be a threat. Angel of the Amazon depicts the events that set her on a path to martyrdom.

Jerry Casey

The Parish Choir at Kenyon College commissioned Jerry Casey to write a duet arrangement of a Kenyon song, Kokosing Farewell, for two graduating seniors, Erin Ford and Lauren McNulty. The duet was premiered May 8, 2011 at the Chapel of the Holy Spirit, Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

Shirley Hoffman Warren

On May 10, 2011 the SUNY New Paltz College-Community Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Edward Lundergan and accompanied by Gary Palmieri on piano, premiered In a New Season, a three-movement work based on poetry of Margaret P. Gallagher, at McKenna Theater on the SUNY New Paltz campus, New Paltz, New York.

William MacSems

William MacSems' Westward Ho for orchestra and narrator was premiered on May 14, 2011 by the Folsom Symphony, conducted by Michael Neuman at Folsom Lake College Performing Arts Theater in Folsom, California. Westward Ho is a suite of four pieces that refer to or represent certain activities or traditions of the old west. A narrator tells a little history to introduce each piece.

David Foley

Foley's setting of Psalm 23, King James translation, for flute, tenor and piano was premiered May 15, 2011 at First Congregationalist United Church of Christ in downtown Portland.

Robert J. Bradshaw

The premiere of Pie Jesu Domine by Robert Bradshaw was given at the Shalin Liu Performance Center, in Rockport, Massachusettes on May 19, 2011. The composition is for soprano, violin, harp, children's choir, adult choir and string orchestra.

Timothy Kramer

On May 21, 2011 the San Antonio Chamber Choir, directed by Scott Mac-Pherson, premiered Kramer's choral cycle Lux Caelestis. The cycle is a 20-minute, unaccompanied choral work in five movements, setting different sacred texts all on the subject of light. The choir sings in Hebrew, Avestan, Pali, Sanskrit and Latin.

Jeffrey Jacob

Jacob's Music for Haiti, a CD of orchestral music, was released in May, 2011 on New Ariel Recordings. The music is a compilation of compositions that explore themes of tragedy, death, and redemption including works directly inspired by the previous year's earthquake and its aftermath. Proceeds from the sale of the CD went to the Bill Clinton—George Bush Fund for Haiti.

Matthew Saunders

On June 3, 2011 Saunders' Piano Sonata was premiered at the annual conference of the Oklahoma Music Teachers Association at Oklahoma Christian University. The premiere was given by pianist Dianna Anderson of the faculty of Minot State University, and the piece was a joint commission of the Oklahoma Music Teachers Association and the Music Teachers National Association.

Guy Vollen

Vollen's Where Seldom is Heard, a fantasy overture in honor of the 150th anniversary of Kansas' statehood (1861—2011), was premiered by the Senseney Music Community Band on June 26, 2011 under the direction of Bill Johnson in the Pleasant Valley United Methodist Church in Wichita, Kansas.